

Questions to Ask if Conversation Stalls

Alpha

Even within the most engaged small groups, there can be moments when the conversation stalls. At this moment, the sound of silence can seem to stretch for an eternity. Try some of the questions below to help you navigate a lapse in discussion.

---

QUESTIONS:

- Is there anything shared in the video that made you think differently than you did before you watched it?
  - Alternate Question: Did this video inspire any new thoughts?
- As we are sitting in this conversation, are there things you are feeling comforted by or resistant to?
  - Alternate Question: What encouraged you about this conversation?
- How does what you just shared make you feel?
  - Alternate Question: What are the top three emotions you are experiencing at this point in the conversation?
- What are other ways of thinking about this topic that you know about?
  - Alternate Question: How does this conversation connect to your every day life?
- Is there anything coming up for you that makes you feel curious to learn more?
  - Alternate Question: What was the most impactful part of this conversation for you personally?